Raw Cashew

Raw cashew refers to the cashew nut that has not undergone any processing or cooking. It is the nut as it is directly harvested from the cashew tree, with its shell intact. The raw cashew nut has a tough outer shell, which contains a cashew kernel inside

Trawari Group is a leading supplier of raw cashew nuts. We are known for providing high-quality cashew nuts that have not undergone any processing or cooking. As a reputable supplier, We play a significant role in the cashew industry, ensuring that raw cashews are sourced and distributed to various markets and industries worldwide. Our commitment to delivering top-notch products makes them a trusted choice for those seeking raw cashew nuts for further processing or consumption

Our dedicated team of experts closely monitors the entire supply chain, from procurement to distribution, ensuring that the raw cashews are handled with care and stored under optimal conditions.

Peanuts

Peanuts, scientifically known as Arachis hypogaea, are a type of legume widely consumed around the world. They are native to South America but are now cultivated in various regions due to their popularity as a nutritious and flavorful food source.

Peanuts grow underground, which is why they are often referred to as "groundnuts" or "earthnuts."

Certainly! The Trawari group is known for supplying the best quality peanuts. We take pride in delivering peanuts that meet the highest standards of freshness, taste, and nutritional value. With a strong commitment to quality control and ethical sourcing practices, customers can trust that the peanuts provided by the Trawari group are of exceptional quality and perfect for a variety of culinary applications.

The Trawari group's dedication to excellence ensures that their peanuts are carefully sourced from reputable farms and undergo rigorous quality checks. Their commitment to delivering the finest peanuts has earned them a reputation as a trusted and reliable supplier in the industry. >
