YELLOWFIN TUNA

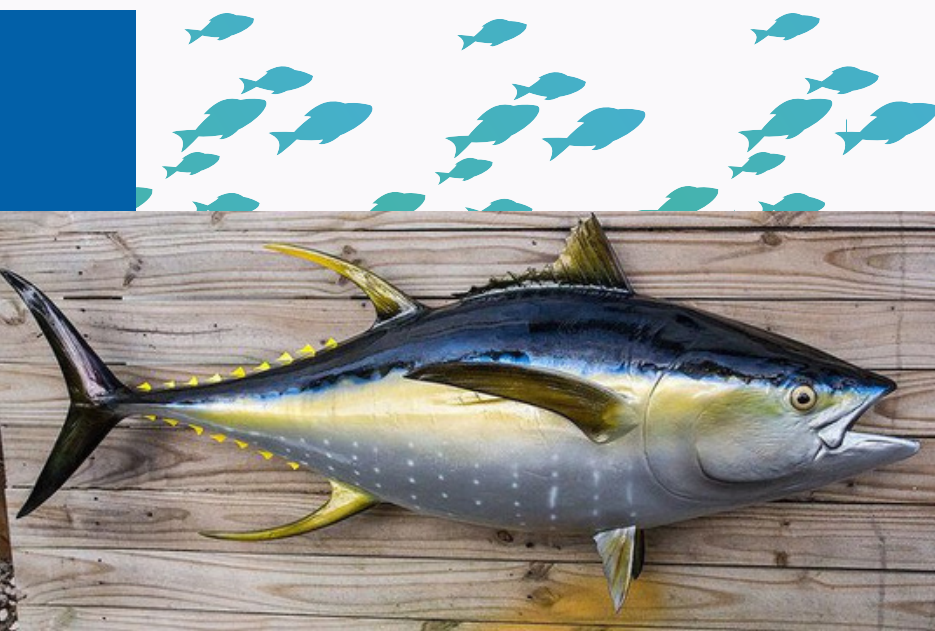

Thunnus albacares

About The Yellowfin Tuna

- As a highly migratory fish, yellowfin tuna is found in warm seas all over the world except the Mediterranean.
- Mostly found in the surface layer (≤ 100 m or 330 ft) of the open ocean above the thermocline, but is capable of diving over 1000 m (3300 ft).
- Typically found in water temperatures between 15° – 31° C (59° - 88° F).
- Known to make migratory trips to higher latitudes as the temperature of the water increases.
- Has a sleek torpedo-shaped body for fast movement.
- Dark blue on the back, which changes from yellow to silver down to the belly.
- Dorsal and anal fins are bright yellow giving the fish its name.
- Difficult to distinguish from other tuna species except for the elongated, sickle-shaped dorsal and anal fins found on large adults.
- Can grow to be 1.8 m (6 feet) long and over 180 kg (400 lbs).

Our main FAO for catching are FAO 51, 57 and 71.
