

VIET LINH

CATALOGUE

VIET LINH AGRIMEX

CINNAMON

Cinnamon's scientific name is Cinnamomum cassia Blume. This is a tree with narrow and pointed ovate leaves. The flowers of the cinnamon tree are white and often grow in clusters at the ends of the leaves or at the tips of the branches. The bark of the cinnamon tree has a spicy and aromatic taste, so it is exploited to make medicine in traditional medicine and as a cooking spice or as an herb for skin care. In addition, the leaves of the cinnamon tree can also be used to distill essential oils, and the stems are used to make handicrafts

BLACK PEPPER

According to statistics of the international pepper organization IPC, the worldwide export of pepper in 2020 will reach more than 459,000 tons, an increase of more than 2% compared to 2019. Vietnam is a country that accounts for 60% of export pepper output. The world pepper export is 282,000 tons.

The demand for pepper in the world is at 510,000 tons/year and the demand for pepper every year increases by 2-3%. Therefore, the export potential of pepper in the near future is very large.

CASHEW

With a delicious, greasy, crispy flavor and many nutritional values, cashew nuts are not only a favorite snack of many people but also a luxurious meaningful gift that many people love. Thanks to good climate and soil, Vietnam is one of the three largest cashew exporters in the world. Europe is the potential market that Vietnam's cashew industry is aiming for.

LEMON

Seedless lime (lime without seeds) is a special kind of fruit from Vietnam. Seedless lime is mostly planted in Southern provinces under VietGap standards. Therefore, Vietnamese seedless lime can meet any requirement for export.

Each year, Vietnam exports hundred thousands of tones of seedless lime. The main export markets for Vietnamese seedless lime are Singapore, The Middle East, Europe...

JASMINE RICE

Jasmine rice is a well-known type of Vietnam white rice for its high quality and distinct flavor after cooking.

Long grain rice has a length of more than 6mm on average. Long grain rice is narrow and long, with a length that is four to five times that of its width. Long grain Vietnam white rice is one of the most widely consumed grains in the world; other varieties include Jasmine rice, ST25 rice, Nang Hoa rice, and others.

Vietnamese Fragrant Jasmine Rice is a high quality fragrant rice, the kernel is big, length, and white, Jasmine rice is grown in Mekong delta, Rice is flexible, light aroma, rice is still flexible when cooled, is preferred in countries like USA, Europe, Iran, Iraq, Malaysia, Ghana.

VIETNAMESE FRUITS

Vietnam is a tropical country with favorable natural conditions for growing fruits. In each export season, Vietnam provides a range of fresh and attractive fruits. Spring brings bright red strawberries, sweet mangos, and golden pomelos. Summer is the time for ripe fruits such as rambutan, custard apple, and coconut. Autumn brings fresh fruits like longan, oranges, and jujubes. Finally, winter is the season of jackfruit, durian, and dragon fruit. These fruits are not only delicious but also nutritious, creating diversity and richness in Vietnam's agricultural industry.

CATALOGUE

VIET LINH AGRIMEX