How to order a specific product?

- First, contact us through one of our contact button on our website, or simply mail or text us. Then, after ordering a product, a sample of the product is sent to the merchant's address, and after examining and approving it, the transaction begins.

How does the transaction occur and what's the guarantee for that?

- If you are a company owner, a strengthened bank letter of credit will be opened from any European or American country, where the money will be received from the bank after the goods are shipped.

What if I receive the goods and they turn out to be damaged?

- Sometimes the container containing the goods is damaged due to shipping companies and poor shipping. We work with major companies such as Maersk, PIL and other companies, but if the goods are damaged, we recover the value of the damaged goods by 100%, as we work under the CIF system and there is insurance on the goods and it is Recovering the seller's damaged value, as the merchant guarantees that the goods are of the required quality.

What if the goods do not meet the required specifications??

- We greatly guarantee the quality of our products, as if the product does not meet the required specifications, the product is examined at the port before the goods are removed from the port and it is proven that the goods are not according to the specifications from SGS.
