TESTING

Raw materials including fabric, reflective tape, accessories will be tested before production. The average minimum coefficient of retroreflective for our reflective tape is above 380 cd/(lx·m²). Color and colorfastness of fluorescent fabric can reach standard.

ANSI/ISEA 107 is an American National Standard for High-Visibility Safety Apparel. EN ISO 20471 High Visibility Clothing --Test Methods and Requirements is an international standard used by European market. Both reach standards of specific performance requirements, including color, retroreflection, physical properties and minimum areas of background, retroreflective materials, as well as the recommended configuration of the materials.
